NOT CARRIED OUT

COMER'S LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM IGNORED.

Constitutional Prohibitionists Say They Can See A Victory.

The legislative program, outlined in the call for an extra session of the Legislature by Governor Comer will not be carried out in its entirety. The Legislature will defeat the biennial sessions amendment and it will in all probability defeat the new counties amendment.

The fight on Secretary J. A. Kyle of the Senate has collapsed. Secretary Kyle will be continued in office this morning by a practically unanimous vote. What will be the result of the fight on and for the amendment putting prohibition in constitution cannot be foretold. That fight is yet unsettled for the representatives and the senators will not express themselves on it because such an expression will bring on pressure both for and against the amendment, from the people back at home. The opponents of the proposed amendment were confident last night, that they would win the fight. On the other hand, the constitutional prohibitionists were firm in their belief, that it would carry.

It was generally conceded in the Exchange lobby that both the biennial sessions amendment and the new county amendments were beaten.

Such were the developments of the wanderings in the hotel lobbies last night. The advance crowd was as large as usual and the lobbies were filled to the limit. It was notable that there was less of partisanship than at previous sessions. The members were not so widely divided as they were two years ago. A new alignment altogether will be formed. The old administration and anti-administration, minority and majority lines were broken up. There was a better and more fraternal feeling manifested than during any of the session of 1909.

The only thing noticeable was the hesitancy of members to express themselves, one way or another, on the proposed constitutional prohibition amendment. They would say freely that they were opposed to the biennial sessions

BLUES AND REDS

PLAY AN INTERESTING GAME OF BASKETBALL

Which Results in the Defeat of Blues by a Score of 14 to 9.

A game of Basket Ball was played between the Blues and Reds at the Athletic Club rooms last evening. The Blues won, the score being 14 to 9. The game was interesting from start to finish.

After the contest the players enjoyed a bath under their new showers, recently installed. Now that the bath is in operation, there is some talk among the boys of resuming the regular Monday night exhibition contests which were discontinued because of the heat. The bath privilege is alone worth the cost of membership and the Club expects to enroll many new members.

amendment, but few cared to express themselves about the proposition to put prohibition in the constitution. They had learned from experience, that if they made a public declaration on the issue that pressure would be brought to bear from home on one side or the other.

NEGROES NOT WANTED

IN THE CITY OF BURLINGTON VERMONT.

Special Precautions Taken To Prevent Outbreak of Citizens.

Burlington, Vt., July 26. - Although no actual request has been made upon the authorities for separate cars for the negro soldiers who are expected at Fort Ethan Allen tomorrow, nor has any other drawing of the color line been made a major portion of the inhabitants of this city are excited tonight and it is conceded by the police that the first sign of disturbance by the colored troops will mean a war to the bitter end against them by the Vermonters. Although the presence of bitter feeling has continually been denied since the first alarm was raised, when the 10th Cavalry was ordered here, Major James E. Burke, in a letter to an editor of the negro newspaper in Boston, confirmed the existence of much race prejudice here.

The "Jim Crow" car is being discussed on the street corners here tonight with much earnestness as the first curb to fall on the colored cavalrymen in case they do not keep themselves in the straight and narrow path.

Many prominent Vermonters are trying to offset the existing feeling against the black troops by repeated denials, but the actual condition of affairs is known by the authorities and it is believed that the mayor and police would be in sympathy with the "Jim Crow" movement even if bloodshed resulted.

DR. H. M. YOUNG DEAD

EXPIRES AT RESIDENCE ON S POSTER ST.

Leaves Many Relatives In This Section of the State

Dr. H. M. Young died at his residence on South Poster street this morning at five forty o'clock, after an illness of several days.

Besides his immediate family he leaves many relatives in this section to mourn his death, among whom are two brothers, D. E. Young and J. R. Young of this place, and a sister, Mrs. J. R. G. Howell.

The funeral services will be conducted from the family residence tomorrow morning at nine thirty.

The family have the sympathy of their friends in their sorrow.

The Young Peoples Home Mission Society of the Methodist church will give a benefit entertainment at the Electric Theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. In addition to the fine moving pictures will be good music, and songs rendered by a quartette.

MAYOR'S COURT

TWO MEN FINED FOR DISTURBING PEACE.

Dothan Merchant Strikes Man Who Reports Him As Selling Whiskey.

At the last meeting of Mayor's court there were two men brought up for disturbing the peace of some Dothan citizens. The men plead not guilty, but by the evidence produced by two witnesses they were found guilty and fined $5.00 each. The one made an appeal and the other paid the fine.

After the above cases were disposed of, an important case came up. It was against one of Dothan's merchants, for beating a man who had reported him for selling whiskey. The man said he saw the merchant sell the whiskey and reported him. The Merchant was arrested and fined $100 and turned loose, but upon first sight of the man who had reported him, beat him severely. The Merchant was arrested and found guilty and another $100 fine was imposed for fighting.

Do you know that two men kept Ozark from growing a good word place that but for them the vast Ozark Pine Shop at Thomasville would be in Ozark today and that instead of two or three thousand the town would now probably have ten thousand people within her borders? It is said to be a fact and it reported to have happened in this way.

When the Alabama Midland now the Coast Line was being built, the managers went to Ozark and after looking the place over decided to locate the Road shops there. They picked out a suitable location and asked the town to give them the land it with only a nominal sum. Two men, seeing a chance to make a little money as they heard it hastened to buy the plot wanted by the Road. When the town people went after the land they found what had been done. The new owners were looked up and asked to sell. Yes, they would sell but they would not take less than such a sum, an amount about five times what they had given. No other suit could be found, the one wanted could not be bought in reason, so the shop went to Thomasville. More people are employed in those shops today than live in the whole town of Ozark. Can you see what it would have meant to Ozark if these shops had been built there. Of course you can see it now, and Ozark sees it too, but it is now too late.

Today an opportunity greater than the one mentioned above stands at the gates of Dothan and knocks for admission. Unbounded development, in the form of cheap power, is at our doors waiting to come in but the doors are locked against it.

You may say that you are not keeping it out, you are not opposed to it you are not keeping away by trying to get personal gain out of it. We do not see that you are.

But we do say this. If you are doing nothing to help it in it you are sitting idly down taking no interest in the matter. Letting things go as they may making no effort to help the movement, you are as much to blame for it as not coming in as if you were actively opposed to it. And if the power goes to where and permanently injures this place, those who did not care enough about the matter to make an effort to keep it here will be just as responsible for the injury to Dothan as those who actually by their power invested in them by the voters of this town are keeping it out.

It is up to you what will be done about it. If you do not do while there is time maybe when you finally wake up it will be too late.

The "Thirteen Superstition"

According to reliable authorities the popular superstition that attaches to the number 13 owes its origin to the story of "The Last Supper." For unaccounted centuries the superstition has been universal that if 13 persons sit down to a meal at the same table one of them will be before the year is out. This doubtless comes from the biblical feast when Christ sat down at table with the 12 disciples.

You may have trouble with the temper in the

That's because your knife did not have the right

Another One At Albany

Macop, Ga., July 26—Two Georgia farmers today marketed new crop cotton, J. W. Averett selling a bale at Quitman and Dent J. Jackson, one at Albany. The latter is a negro farmer and has held the "first bale" record for ten years. Jackson sold his first bale last year on July 17.

Why the Sea Is Blue.

The sea is blue because the water reflects the blue rays of light. But shallow seas are green because the blue light is mixed with the yellow reflections from sand and stones at the bottom. Green is a mixture of blue and yellow. In this green light of shallow water all sea weeds grow, and for want of the red rays they have golden and brown leaves. Green and red seaweeds are the exception, and blue seaweeds are as rare as blue tree leaves. At this rate land plants grown under green glass ought to turn golden brown, like seaweed. They do. Experiment has shown that under green glass plants grow noisily as well as under clear sunlight. — New York Sun.

Impatient.

Customer—Are you the proprietor of this restaurant?

Proprietor—Yes, sir.
Customer—Then please provide me as quickly as possible with pen, ink and paper and two decent people as waitresses.

Proprietor (in alarm)—What is the matter, sir? Would you like a doctor?

Customer—No, thank you. But I ordered my dinner twenty-seven minutes ago, and I thought it would be advisable to make my will before I started to death.—London Fun.

Two Dollars.

The red haired girl's face wore a worried look as she joined her luncheon cronies at table.

"I can't order much for luncheon today," she announced. "I've just lost some money."

"Much?" asked a sympathetic waitress.

"Two dollars."

"Humph! I don't call that much," remarked the office manager, who draws $25 a week.

The red haired girl looked at him a moment. "Oh, no," she said. "I was going to throw it in the street anyway!"—New York Times.

ADDING VALUABLE MINUTE.

It has been figured out that on hundred thousand people living in the suburbs of New York will save thirty-two minutes each day by means of the McAdoo tunnel which that Georgia genius has recently thrown open to the public.

This gives the people of New York and vicinity six years and six of extra time for themselves on their own pursuits, and the imagination wanders off into space trying to figure out how many centuries are added in the course of a year to the opportunities of the hundred thousand people.

A generation is about thirty years. This means that in every generation of these one hundred thousand persons McAdoo gives them five hundred and forty centuries of extra time of their own that they wouldn't have had if it hadn't been for him and his dream of tunneling the Hudson.

What couldn't one hundred thousand people do in five hundred and forty centuries?

Take McAdoo himself for instance. While he was making his dream come true he couldn't find enough minutes in each day. He toiled incessantly.

It is so with all masters who unspoken motto is "DO SOMETHING."

Minutes are golden to the man who has an aim in life.

Is there not one man in this one hundred thousand crowded human beings who will make the best of his thirty-two extra minutes a day?

How many minutes have been saved on in our lifetimes by the wonderful inventions of our century and the last part of the century before this?
